Hi Denise,

Fayeann here, CEO of Sologistics, your on-demand solar services providers.

We know you're busy and that's precisely why we're reaching out - to make your job easier while making you look good to your customers. As partners to renewable energy businesses, we provide a full range of plan design, utility and incentive application, and permitting services to ensure an efficient, cost-effective process. Our work is transparent to you and invisible to your customers. Our team of industry experts and readily scalable processes enabled our most recent client to increase their monthly project completion rate by 123% without adding a single Operations team-member salary. We're looking forward to helping you do the same.

Here are some simple actions to take now if you're interested in learning more:

- Learn more about Sologistics and our business philosophy
- Contact us for more information
- Connect with me on LinkedIn

The bottom line is that we give companies like Social Butterfly Communications an operational edge in Solar's competitive markets nationwide. If you'd like to discuss how Sologistics can do this for you, please contact me to have a chat about your needs - and I'll show you how we can help.

Thanks, Denise. I'm looking forward to connecting with you.
